The Junk Room

Everybody’s got one. You know that one room that no one can go in because it’s literally filled with junk. There’s an ugly lamp that your in-laws gave you that you have no intention of showing anyone ever. There’s a treadmill you were absolutely convinced you would use four years and thirty pounds ago. There’s plenty of good intentions and money well spent just collecting dust in that one room.

It happens so easily, doesn’t it? If we’re not careful, every room in the house turns into a junk room. It’s just so convenient to pack all the junk we don’t want in one place and pretend like it’s not there. Eventually, that stuff is going to have to come out, and it’s not going to be pretty.

Jesus spoke to a woman with plenty of junk she wanted to pack away and forget about. This lady had gone through five husbands and was living with what I guess we could call a “boyfriend.” When this stranger (Jesus) approached her, that was probably the last thing she wanted to unpack. But Jesus went there. I can just see her cringing as they talked. But something amazing happened; Jesus didn’t scoff. He didn’t draw back in disgust. He stayed and helped her sort through it.

Jesus knows we have things we like to hide, but He’s not above helping us sort through it. What’s in your junk room? Are you willing to let Jesus take a look?
