The Popular Kid

You know that cool kid: Sunglasses, a leather jacket, and greased hair. Actually, I think I may be describing what was trendy about 50 years ago. That's still popular, right? Popularity is a weird thing. We think being "popular" ends in high school or college, but it doesn't really if we're honest. We still want what so-and-so has, and what's-her-name has the best clothes. It's easy to get caught up in it.

Christians are the same way. We have our church here, and that's ok... but what about that big, fancy church down the road? They've got all the best things. And they've got tons of people! I wish we could be like them.

What about the "popular member" at our church? We like to pretend those don't exist, but come on... they totally do. He can do no wrong. He makes everyone laugh. Everyone loves him. He's just the best. I wish I could be more like him.

Insecurity is a difficult problem we all have to face. It's just so easy and natural to compare ourselves to others. But it's also really, really dumb, especially if you're a Christian. Think about it; our Lord, Jesus the Christ, was so unpopular that He was crucified. He wasn't worried about how others saw Him. He was concerned about how God saw Him. Who's opinion do you care about?
