"For whom he did foreknow, he also did predestinate to be conformed to the image of his Son, that he might be the firstborn among many brethren" (Rom 8:29).

When I was working on my masters, my research methods professor would tell students that when we wrote research papers, no one cared about our opinion, we were lower than worms. He has since passed on. He was a great man.

Consider "worms" and caterpillars. Worms will always be worms, but caterpillars are potentially destined for something greater...a butterfly.

Sometimes in life, we hold ourselves hostage for past mistakes and never see ourselves more than worms. However; God has always seen much more in us (Eph 2:10; Phil 1:6). The gospel of Christ transforms us (Rom 1:16) and obedience to God shapes and molds us into the image of Christ (Rom 12:1,2) so that we can be that which God had always intended for us to be!

Be the butterfly you were meant to be!
