"And David was greatly distressed; for the people spake of stoning him, because the soul of all the people was grieved, every man for his sons and for his daughters: but David encouraged himself in the Lord his God" (1 Sam 30:6).

With the abundance of "one to another" passages, an unintended consequence may be a sense of entitlement and neglecting our own duty to ourselves in spiritual growth.

When it comes to being part of a spiritual family, it is true that we are to love, comfort, exhort, edify, admonish, pray for, serve, forgive, receive, and be kindly affectionate to one another (to name a few). Question. What happens when that doesn't happen? What if the elders, deacons, preachers, and members DON'T do these things for/to me? I mean, after all, we all make mistakes. David, in a very rough patch, encouraged himself.

Remember, we do have a responsibility to our own selves (Jude 20).
