“For the wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord” (Rom 6:23).

In 2 Samuel 11, David committed the heinous crimes of adultery and murder, and the Lord forgave him (12:13). However, there is an unmistakable lesson that we learn about sin. There is a “wage” of sin (death) and there is a “consequence” of sin (the actual effect).

Though God forgave him, David still had to face the consequences of his sins; the illegitimate child would die, the sword would not depart from his house, evil against him would arise out of his own house, and his wives would be given to his neighbors in the sight of all Israel (12:10-12).

Though God will forgive us of sin (through faith and obedience), just because we resolve to be “done” with sin, sin is not always “done” with us. Take heed brethren (Heb 2:1; 3:12)!
