“As newborn babes, desire the sincere milk of the word, that ye may grow thereby:” (1 Peter 2:2)

At what age do we “stop” growing? In human physiology, “growth” has its limits. It’s quite interesting; if a child stops growing, this is legitimate cause for concern. However, continued physical growth as an adult is also cause for concern. For Christians, continued spiritual growth is not only expected and required, but necessary. It’s also interesting that Christians become “more” (grow) as we become “less.” Our lives are ones of “addition by subtraction.” As Christians, we must diligently “add” to our faith virtue, knowledge, temperance, patience, godliness, brotherly kindness, and love (2 Pt 1:5). As we “add” these things, we also “put off” anger, wrath, malice, blasphemy, filthy communication, and lying (Col 3:8).

How are we able to achieve “adding” while also “putting off?” Diligently study and application of God’s Word is the catalyst by which we achieve the “growth” that our brother Peter encourages. It is as natural as a newborn baby desiring and benefiting from the sustenance and nutrients of milk.
