“And he said to them all, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me” (Lk 9:23).

When I taught math, often my students felt overwhelmed by a math problem, I would encourage them to take a breath and eat the elephant in small bites. When faced with monumental tasks that seem overwhelming, we should breathe and remember that it is impossible to eat the entire elephant in one bite.

Some struggle with Christianity because they survey the rest of their lives, however long that may be, and wonder if it is possible to live righteously for the remainder of their time. One should know a few things. First, though we may stumble in our walk, if that walk is “in the light”, we will be pleasing to God (1 Jn 1:7). Second, our time could end today (Prov 27:1; James 4:14). Finally, Christianity is a “daily” walk (2 Cor 4:6). As Christians, we understand that yesterday is gone (Phil 3:13), tomorrow is not promised (Mt 6:34), and all we have is today (Heb 3:7,15).

Be the best Christian you can TODAY, and IF tomorrow comes, be the best Christian you can be then!
